PROFILE

Python developer with ten projects published on GitHub, all with automated tests and continuous integration. I build tools that remove repetitive work: Telegram booking bots, data collection from websites, automated Excel reports and handling of website enquiries.

I have been working in Italy since 2023 (construction, electrical installations, manufacturing), which taught me precision, working to diagrams and safety standards, and reliability.

I reply quickly, take on complex tasks willingly and learn on the job. After delivery I stay available and briefly explain how everything works. I work well both in a team and on my own.
